CONSULTANT’S ORGANIZATION AND EXPERIENCE

Form TECH-2: a brief description of the Consultant’s organization and an outline of the recent experience of the Consultant that is most relevant to the assignment. In the case of a joint venture, information on similar assignments shall be provided for each partner. For each assignment, the outline should indicate the names of the Consultant’s Key Experts and Sub-consultants who participated, the duration of the assignment, the contract amount (total and, if it was done in a form of a joint venture or a sub-consultancy, the amount paid to the Consultant), and the Consultant’s role/involvement.

1. Provide here a brief description of the background and organization of your company, and – in case of a joint venture – of each member for this assignment.

B - Consultant’s Experience

1. List only previous similar assignments successfully completed in the last 7 (Seven) years.

2. List only those assignments for which the Consultant was legally contracted by the Client as a company or was one of the joint venture partners. The Consultant should be prepared to substantiate the claimed experience by presenting copies of relevant documents and references if so requested by the Client.

Using the format below, provide information on each assignment for which your Consultant/entity, either individually as a corporate entity or as one of the major companies within an association, was legally contracted.

Climate Change Management Division
Catalyzing Ecosystem Restoration for Climate Resilient Natural Capital and Rural Livelihoods in Degraded Forest and Rangelands of Nepal – EbA II

Terms of Reference for Undertaking Baseline Assessment of EbA II

1. Background:
Nepal is ranked one of the most vulnerable countries in the world to climate induced disasters and is exposed to different hazards such as flood, landslides, glacial lake outburst flood (GLOFs), thunderstorms, cold wave, droughts and earthquakes. The country is also highly vulnerable to the negative impacts of climate change leading to consistent rising trends in annual mean temperature, extreme rainfall events, increasing frequency and intensity of floods, GLOFs and droughts. In view of the above, efforts must be made to explore options in which nature can provide solutions to our development challenges enabling local communities and societies at large to adapt and cope with the effects of climate change on the long run.

Natural resources in forest and rangeland ecosystems underpin many local industries and micro-entreprises in Nepal including non-timber forest products (NTFPs) and medicinal and aerometric plants (MAPs) markets and ecotourism. High population density and widespread poverty have accelerated pressure on the goods and services of forest and rangeland ecosystems. Important resources are being over-exploited through excessive stocking of livestock and increased harvesting of firewood, timber and other natural resources. This is evident in the expansion of intensive agriculture along previously forested hill slopes. These unsustainable land use practices result in increased soil erosion that results (i) decreased in water quality through increased sedimentation; (ii) increased variability in water supply, and (iii) reduced soil fertility thereby adversely affecting agricultural productivity. As a result, ecosystem degradation is the most consistent threat to the local communities and the Nepalese economy.

The effects of climate change such as rising temperature, erratic and intense rainfall and increased frequency of extreme droughts, floods and avalanches have been reducing the adaptive capacity of forests and rangelands in the mid-hills and high mountains of Nepal which naturally provide ecosystem goods and services to indigenous and local communities. As a consequence, climate change is adversely affecting the indigenous and local communities particularly children, elderly and women, who directly and/or indirectly depend on the ecosystem goods and services for their daily livelihoods. These problems are expected to increase in intensity and frequency under future climate change scenarios.

Moreover, national, provincial and local government and local communities have limited technical and institutional capacity in planning, implementing and financing of the adaptations of these climate change and design action plan. To address these problems, the current EbA II aims at increasing the capacity of national and local government institutions to adapt to the climate change by implementing ecosystem-based adaptation (EbA) approaches.
in degraded forests and rangelands in mid-hill and high mountain areas. This EbA II project will build on the good practices and lessons of the earlier baseline EbA projects and consequently contribute to the long term sustainability of the baseline projects in the face of climate change. The project has three components: component 1 will strengthen the national capacity to plan and implement EbA, component 2 will support a policy environment that promotes EbA across Nepal and component 3 will demonstrate on the ground EbA interventions to restore degraded forests and rangelands.

1.1 Project’s major outputs

There are a total of ten outputs across the three components;

- Output 1.1 Technical working groups on EbA established within MCCICC
- Output 1.2 Training provided for national, district and local stakeholders on identifying, prioritizing, implementing, monitoring and evaluating EbA interventions
- Output 1.3 National campaigns implemented and district level collaboration facilitated on EbA approaches and benefits including lessons learned in component 3
- Output 1.4 Primary, secondary and tertiary educational programmes developed on EbA best practices
- Output 2.1 Policy briefs developed and training provided on recommended revisions to policies, strategies and relevant sectoral budgets including for forestry, agriculture and water sector to promote EbA in forests and rangelands
- Output 2.2 Frameworks that support up scaling of EbA in forests and rangelands developed and presented to relevant national institutions
- Output 3.1 Social, economic and biodiversity site specific information produced to support identification, prioritization, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of EbA in forests and rangelands
- Output 3.2 EbA demonstrations implemented to increase water infiltration and fodder production during drought conditions and intense rainfall events and integrated into operational management plans of user groups
- Output 3.3 Adaptation techniques introduced to complement EbA through conservation of topsoil sand water in the face of droughts and increased rainfall intensity
- Output 3.4 Community livelihood improvement plan (CLIPS) in line with the economic benefits from forests, rangeland and agro ecosystems and implemented with local communities

1.2 Project working areas

The project covers two distinct physiographic regions of Nepal; midhills -Accham and Salyan and High Mountain; Dolakha. A total of 10 Municipalities/Rural Municipalities encompassing (Sanfebagar, Ramaroshan and Mallekh in Accham, Gaurishankar, Bhimeswor, Kalinchowk, Shailung and Jiri in Dolakha and Banghat-Kubhinde and Khumakh in Salyan) fall within the project working sites.

2. Rationale of baseline assessment:

EbA II has clearly defined its targets and indicators in its Log frame/Results Resources Framework; however, baseline of the project targets is currently not available. Therefore, in order to create benchmarks, a baseline assessment will be undertaken to generate baseline information for each of the target spelled out in the project’s document. The baseline indicators will be the guiding information to gauge project achievement and results at the end. This will help devise appropriate tools for monitoring and evaluation of the project.
interventions. Furthermore, this baseline assessment will generate the required information comprising of socio-economic, demographic and natural resource base including ancillary information of the general and targeted beneficiaries of the project working Palikas. This information will guide the project to plan effectively and coherently in realizing the project objectives in a systematic way.

2.2 Objective: The main objective of the baseline assessment is to create baseline data of the current scenario of project working sites, existing capacity of the government, generate data of its stakeholders and beneficiaries based on which the target of the project will be measured. The assessment will also revisit the Result framework of the project document and propose revision of indicators, if necessary for the project outputs/outcomes to be monitored during project implementation and evaluation towards the end of project. The baseline date will take into consideration the targets of the project, mainly but not limiting to:

1) Technical working group on EbA established within MCCICC
2) 150 Officials trained on EbA
3) EbA protocols developed
4) Training materials/tool kits/manual developed and rolled out
5) 2 National awareness campaigns held on EbA
6) Four tools on EbA developed and integrated/mainstreamed in school curricula
7) Research grants provided to Bachelors, Masters and PhD students
8) Existing policies and strategies reviewed to embrace EbA issues, and policy briefs developed
9) EbA up scaling and financing plan prepared
10) At least 1000 ha of forests restored using EbA
11) At least 450 ha of rangelands restored using EbA
12) 100 operational plans updated
13) 120 ha of improved terraces developed
14) 36 filtering dams constructed
15) 36 water conservation ponds constructed
16) 24 rainwater harvesting devices constructed
17) 3 community livelihood improvement plans (CLIPS) developed
18) 7 nurseries established

The specific objectives include:
   a) Identify and establish a baseline information of project indicators as defined in Result framework for monitoring, evaluation and project performance
   b) Revisit the Result framework including targets and indicators and propose revision, if deemed necessary.
   c) Generate information on the demographic and socio-economic features of households beneficiaries (direct and indirect) disaggregated information (gender and class) of the working palikas.
d) Explore and identify the existing potential and opportunities in livelihood dimension towards improving the social, natural and financial capital of the targeted beneficiary households

e) Based on the Result Framework of the project document prepare baseline data in relation of target and MoV specified in the RF.

3. Scope of Work
The baseline assessment will focus inter alia on collecting data related to key performance indicators which are set out in the results framework but not limited to the following:

a) Validate and configure the current working areas (formerly VDCs) as per the new federal structure. Identify the main project stakeholders, institutions, and beneficiaries (direct and indirect) of the working palikas.

b) Assess and document the socio-economic and demographic features of the project sites encompassing; coverage, HH population, household size and disaggregated information (gender and social class) of beneficiaries, occupation, income (annual income, source of income, land holding size, food sufficiency, livestock, assets and so forth).

c) Assess the existing human, social, natural, physical and financial capital of the community institutions (at user group level) and recommend areas for capacity enhancement.

d) Identify and map out the existing resource base including degraded forest and rangelands for EbA intervention and restoration. Based on a consultative process identify innovative on-farm and off-farm ground interventions in the areas of cash income, crops diversification, livestock management and food security to adapt and cope with the emerging climate induced risks.

e) Based on a participatory approach, identify and document existing and potential functional groups (forest, leasehold, NTFPs/MAPs, irrigation, livestock, rangeland, agro ecosystem, etc) and develop gender disaggregated information for conservation and livelihood interventions.

f) Explore the perception and level of understanding of EbA measures and benefits by local stakeholders in Palikas and district level.

g) Explore and identify major forest/agro /rangeland based resources, its utilization and harvesting pattern (sites and product). Analyze the involvement of women, poor and marginalized communities in resource management and benefit sharing. Map them in a tabular form with seasonal calendar of harvest. Assess the vulnerability context of the targeted beneficiaries.

h) Document existing and potential micro-enterprises with focus on sustainable use of nature/NTFPs and MAPs resources.

i) Prioritize the most pragmatic, feasible and sustainable means of livelihood option to improve food security and cash income of the beneficiaries in the face of climate change. Identify and recommend income generating activities that have quick impact for the climate vulnerable communities.

j) Explore and identify possible opportunities for market linkages and value addition of the identified products.
